ourt Jurisdiction

The Metropolitan General Sessions Court of Nashville-Davison County serves as a very important "spoke in the wheel" as the basic foundation in the local justice system. It is a high volume limited jurisdiction Court that hears civil, misdemeanor, felony, traffic, environmental, and metropolitan ordinance violations. This court is served by 11 judges that are elected to an eight year term. There are also 5 law-trained judicial Magistrates that handle the probable cause hearing's in the issuance of a criminal warrant and 1 referee that handles the environmental cases and other non-traffic metro ordinance violations. For a majority of the citizens, this level of Court will be their only encounter with the state's justice system. Consequently, it has been frequently described as "the court of first resort." The list below shows the area of law under the court's jurisdiction.

- Criminal—Cases in which the applicable penalty is no more than 11 months, 29 days; Preliminary Hearing; Amount and conditions of all appearance bonds; Forfeiture of property used in commission of crime; Issuance of search warrants.
- Civil—Civil warrants with a jurisdictional limit of $25,000 and monetary jurisdiction is unlimited in detainer actions; Orders of Protection; Mental Health (involuntary Committal); Tuberculosis Treatment (Non-Compliance).
- Environmental—Animal control, Housing code violations and Building code violations.
- Metro Ordinance—Traffic law violations; All other county ordinance violations.

ental Health Court

For more than ten years, the Davidson County Mental Health Court has provided crucial support and assistance to some of Nashville's most vulnerable citizens.

One of the first mental health courts established in the United States, the Davidson County Court has been on the leading edge of working with those in our community who are dealing with mental health challenges. Judge Melissa Blackburn presides over the court and oversees a staff of specialists trained to address the particular needs of court participants. During the past year, 256 people were evaluated by Mental Health Court specialists to determine their eligibility for the program with 90 new participants admitted.

Individuals participating in the specialized court program may be on probation or on a diversion program for criminal charges. Potential clients are screened by mental health professionals to determine their compatibility for the program and, if they are accepted, the period of supervision typically lasts eleven months. More severe cases may remain within the program for a longer period of Client Service Specialists supervision. Court staff works on a routine basis to ensure compliance, assist in housing, monitor treatment for substance and alcohol abuse and provide medical services with a goal of establishing Derek DeSha stability needed to be a contributing member of the community.

The court currently supervises more than two hundred participants, allowing them a fresh start and an opportunity to succeed in life.

For Fiscal Year 2017, Mayor Megan Barry included two new posi- Lovie Hurt Jr. tions to be funded by the Metropolitan Government of Nashville-Davidson County in her budget proposal to the Metro Council. The Council approved these new positions, allowing the Mental Health

Court to expand its scope of services and increase the number of Nashvillians served per year.

eterans Court

In 2014, Davidson County was awarded a three-year implementation grant from the United States Department of Justice through the Tennessee Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services. The purpose is to fund operation of a fully accredited specialty court tasked with serving Nashville's Veterans. During the past year, forty-two Veterans were evaluated by Veterans Court specialists and thirty-six were admitted into the program.

Veterans specialty courts originated in Buffalo, NY beginning in 2008. Since then, dozens of courts have been established across the United States to assist with the unique difficulties of our service veterans. Judge Melissa Blackburn of General Sessions Division II presides over the court and supervises its operations.

Through a structured program administered by the court, eligible veterans can find stability and new purpose to be a contributor to the community. Benefits offered to assist veterans include mental health evaluation, alcohol/substance abuse assistance and supervision by client specialists assigned to work on their particular needs. Veterans agree to participate as a condition of probation or on a diversion program for criminal charges.

The court works in partnership with Metro and state government agencies and mental health providers, as well as veterans outreach and advocacy groups. Together, they form a support system that gives eligible veterans an opportunity to address issues brought about by their military service.

Beginning in Fiscal Year 2017 and continuing in 2019, the State of Tennessee included funding of Veterans Courts in the annual budget. The Davidson County Veterans Court was fortunate to be one of the courts selected to receive a portion of the state's new funding. As a

When we consider difficulties with increased incarceration and the constraints budget reductions place on our justice and mental health systems, innovation in our approach is critical. The Davidson County Mental Health Court is meeting these challenges and providing a vital service to the community.

In the new battlefields America faces, those in military service are exposed to warfare and experiences never previously encountered. Growing numbers of veterans returning from service face specific mental challenges as a result of fighting to defend our nation in an evolving and dangerous world. The methods by which we work to return them to full participation in society are crucial and the Davidson County Veterans Court is employing these new methods. It is the mission of the court to fulfill our nation's commitment to the men and women who chose to defend our way of life.

ecovery Court

The Davidson County Misdemeanor Recovery Court, created in 2009, is for legally involved addicts seeking recovery for a minimum of 12-24 months. Recovery Court was created to provide free services to participants while under court supervision for criminal offenses. The Honorable Judge Gale Robinson, General Sessions Court Probation Department, Tennessee Recovery Foundation, Public Defenders Office, District Attorney's Office, and numerous partner agencies make up the support system for the Recovery Court. Funded by Davidson County Metropolitan Government and the Tennessee Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services through the Tennessee Recovery Foundation, the court provides many services needed for positive reintegration into the community.

Under the General Sessions Probation Department, Program Manager Lauren Berens and Probation Officers Terena Moore and Alesia Putman supervise participants to ensure court-ordered requirements are met. Services provided include intensive substance abuse in-patient or out-patient treatment, mental health services, medication assisted treatment, adult education classes and GED testing, housing and transportation assistance, drug and alcohol testing, and any other component in which our Probation Officers and the Treatment team can assist. Some participants that successfully complete the program may have their charges expunged.

Recovery Court requires participants to complete five program phases. Each phase addresses specific participant needs to maintain sobriety and reintegrate into the community in a meaningful way. Participants in Recovery Court are frequently drug tested on a random basis and attend daily recovery meetings.

Recovery Court has several graduations each year signifying participants' preparedness to maintain their sobriety and independent living without the support of the Court. All graduating participants are welcome to return to the program to provide emotional support to current participants or seek assistance from the Court or our partnering agencies if help is needed.

omestic Violence Court

In response to a city-wide Domestic Violence Safety Assessment, the Davidson County General Sessions Court's docket structure was reorganized in 2014 to allow for a dedicated Domestic Violence Court. While the Court has been hearing cases involving Domestic Violence with Judge Gale Robinson presiding over such dockets for more than 24 years, the current docket structure provides an efficient and timely processing of cases involving domestic violence, and simplifies the court process for all parties involved.

All Orders of Protection and criminal cases involving domestic violence in the General Sessions Court are docketed in the dedicated Domestic Violence Court which operates daily in Courtroom 4B and 4C of the Justice A.A. Birch Building. The three (3) judges assigned to preside over the dedicated Domestic Violence Court on a rotating basis are Judges' Angelita Dalton, Gale Robinson and Allegra Walker. The Criminal Court Deputy Clerk for Domestic Violence preparation is Jeff Crafton. The dedicated Domestic Violence Court began operation on September 2, 2014.

nvironmental Court

When disputes arise over the enforcement of the Davidson County Metropolitan Code of Laws and Regulations they are brought to the Environmental Court, a division of the General Sessions Court. This docket was created in 2001 to address Metro Code violations pertaining to buildings, trash, debris in neighborhoods and business sites. This court also enforces leash law violations, nuisance complaints about dog barking, and at large or vicious dogs. Defendants found guilty of violations of the Metro Code of Laws are liable for court costs and can be subject to fines of $50 per day for every day the property remains in violation. The court may also order the defendant to spend time in jail for a maximum of ten days. Once a warrant has been served, the defendant is responsible for all costs, including any fines. The Codes Department cannot waive court costs, assessed fines or release any liens assessed by the court to recover these costs. The court meets each Wednesday with two (2) dockets at 1:00 pm and 2:30 pm in courtroom 5D at the Justice A.A. Birch Building (408 2nd Ave. North). The 1:00 pm docket handles environmental, police and animal control violations and environmental warrants are addressed at 2:30 p.m. The court is presided by current General Sessions Court Division IV-Judge Allegra Walker and Referee Jim Todd, who served in that capacity for 10 years through May, 2017. Judge Walker appointed John Manson to serve as Referee effective June, 2017.

HUMAN TRAFFICKING INTERVENTION COURT

In February 2016, Assistant District Attorneys Tammy Meade and Deb Smith, under the leadership of District Attorney General Glenn Funk, created an innovative intervention court titled Cherished H.E.A.R.T.S. This court was created in response to a clear social issue where survivors of human trafficking were caught in a criminal cycle due to their traumatic experiences, criminal records and, for some, substance abuse disorder. This court is open to all women, men and transgendered survivors of human trafficking and is one of the few trafficking courts in the country. The program is voluntary and runs a minimum of 6 months. When the survivor completes the program successfully their charge may be dismissed and expunged at no expense.

Cherished H.E.A.R.T.S. is partnered with the Tennessee Recovery Foundation, End Slavery Tennessee and the General Sessions Probation Department. The General Sessions Music City Community Court, Division VIII (8) was founded by Judge Rachel L. Bell in 2012. Since its inception, the court has piloted several community initiatives focused on preventive and diversionary justice focused on the concept, that "Justice does not stop at the courthouse steps" and charged to do all it can to help break the playground to prison pipeline and restore/rehabilitate lives.

DIVERSIONARY JUSTICE (to rehabilitate and restore offenders)

udicial Magistrates

Five judicial magistrates—each possessing the qualifications of a judge—comprise what is known collectively as "Night Court," a viable and productive extension of the General Sessions Court. The identifying label is derived from the fact that the Magistrates preside over proceedings that take place after normal business hours. But it is misleading in that the panel is actually on duty 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, serving a broad range of functions relevant to the criminal justice process.

In addition to their other job responsibilities, the magistrates:

- Conduct probable cause hearings, issue warrants and set bail bonds in criminal cases
- Determine probable cause for judicial committals from county psychiatric facilities
- Issue Ex Parte Orders of Protection, as well as warrants for violations of such orders
- Issue property seizure warrants upon probable cause

Each magistrate is appointed by the court for a one-year term that dictates seven-day work weeks and alternating eight-hour work shifts.

raffic Safety Education

General Sessions Traffic Education - John Slate, Director

Performance

A reduction in moving citations remains to be a factor in the overall decline in Traffic School Enrollments. As last year, it is reported that the same number of stops are being made although warnings are written instead of citations. While this effort creates a more friendly approach to traffic control, traffic school enrollments are reduced. However in 2017, the drop in citations has not produced as great of a drop in Traffic School enrollments as the year prior. Total enrollments for 2017 were 24,021, only 1,642 fewer than in 2016. Online enrollments dropped by 159 for the annual year. Even with the lower enrollment rates, Nashville's traffic education program is outperforming other municipalities and continues to win performance awards for both online and live defensive driving class attendance from the National Safety Council.

The Driver's License tutorial program or Driver's License Reinstatement class has dropped in enrollments in 2017-18, due to an effort by the District Attorney's office to offer other options on agreed orders. Although we continue to help the public with guidance in resolving issues that prevent them from getting their driver's license reinstated. Gross revenue for 2017 was $2,076,604.21. Through June 2018 we have collected $ 946,967.00, totaling $3,023,571.21 for the 18mo. period January 2017 – June 2018.

On-line enrollments

2017 was the 12th full year for the online Traffic School classes, enrolling just under 10,000 persons. Since 2005, 126,769 persons enrolled in First Offender on-line classes and 56,749 persons enrolled in DDC4 on-line classes.

News

Since The Justice Integration Services (JIS) launch date in August 2017, the JIS team has completed 26 fixes and enhancements. The online application was moved from the Metro I/T domain in late Spring, 2017 due to their focus on Metro-wide projects. JIS also employs application specialists. The Phase 2 enhancements are currently in development and requirements are being finalized for Phase 3 enhancements. When Phase 3 is completed, there will only be a couple of low priority items remaining from the original list of open issues. Butch Thomas, Priya Sahai, Will Gordon, Joe Phillips, Wes Becker and Chris Wolfe are to be commended for their outstanding work.

JIS Project Manager, Butch Thomas states that one of the most beneficial upgrades from a support and reliability standpoint, is the monitoring and email notifications to IIS staff when problems occur, such as the initial message queue issues and server errors. As far as 2018-2019 enhancements, we will be completing phase 2, phase 3, the remaining ITS list issues and then we will begin to address the open issues reported and logged in our change management tool.

CY 2017 to Jan-June 2018 Probation Department Annual Report

The General Sessions Probation Department has the responsibility of supervising over 5,000 offenders annually. Supervision responsibilities entail working with offenders to change their behaviors and ensure compliance with the conditions of probation as ordered by the court. The Department's Leadership, Probation Officers, and Support Staff utilize current technologies such as Global Positioning Systems (GPS), Transdermal Alcohol Devices (SCRAM), Drug/Alcohol Testing, Ignition Interlock and multiple agency databases to assist in managing our offender population.

The supervision of Domestic Violence (DV) offenders is an important focus for our department. In addition to supervision, our DV Probation Officers participate in the Nashville-Davidson County High Risk Intervention Panel (HRIP). The HRIP is a multidisciplinary team that works to identify high-risk domestic violence cases and create individualized intervention plans that incorporate the entire domestic violence response system, with the goals of increasing victim safety and holding offenders accountable.

Annually, we refer thousands to programs for substance abuse, mental health, and domestic violence behaviors. Success for those receiving services is dependent upon their ability to apply learned treatment concepts to everyday living.

In March 2017, two of the General Sessions specialty court programs joined the Probation Department. Recovery Court and the Human Trafficking Intervention Court, known as Cherished H.E.A.R.T.S are led by Program Manager Lauren Berens. Supervision of these two specialty court programs differ from regular probation in three areas.

- 1. Detailed risk/needs assessment are utilized to identify the risk of re-offending and the criminogenic needs of each person on supervision. Probation and Treatment staff works intensively with participants to focus on services and interventions to reduce the risk and meet participant's needs.
- 2. Specialty Court Participants meet face-to-face with Probation Officers on a regular basis. These meetings are the cornerstone in establishing trust and gaining a comprehensive understanding of the individual.
- 3. Home and employment visits are conducted by Probation Staff. These visits help to tell the story of the effectiveness of the program in changing the lives of the participants.
