Reconnect Re-Entry Navigators specialize in helping justice impacted individuals who are incarcerated or recently released navigate the college going process. Re-Entry Navigators help to identify and connect justice impacted individuals to campus and community resources. Once enrolled in college, Navigators will continue to support, guide, and encourage individuals until graduation.

Navigators can help you:

- Learn about college programs available in your area
- Navigate the college admissions process
- Understand and apply for financial aid and other scholarships
- Connect you with campus resources, like career counseling and tutoring
- Recognize your strengths, advocate for you, and encourage you until graduation

Who can participate?

Anyone with a High School diploma or Equivalency (GED/HiSET)
